++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely cloudy. Light rain overnight, then turning colder.

Today:
Any early fog patches gradually lifting. Becoming generally cloudy with the odd spot of rain possible. However, the far southeast may stay mainly dry and bright for much of the day. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy this evening with some drizzle possible. A band of light rain moving southeast after midnight. This may clear northwestern areas later, perhaps giving a touch of ground frost here. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Thursday:
Early cloud and light rain in the southeast soon clearing. Otherwise, a cold and bright start with sunny spells. A little more cloud developing later in the day. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Conditions turning very unsettled Friday and Saturday with gales, rain or showers, these perhaps wintry at times especially on higher ground. Mostly dry Sunday, with winds slowly easing. Feeling cold.
